Get Clients, Build Business, Make More Income

Jennifer will make your event memorable, inspiring and valuable. Your attendees will gain tips, tools and tactics that get results.

Jennifer Davey, Founder of JJS Coaching and Author of the 14-Step Formula for Getting Clients, is a Business Coach, Marketing Strategist, and Speaker. She helps small businesses and self-employed professionals develop strategies for getting clients, building business, and making more income.

Jennifer spent 12 years working in the news media as a Television Director before becoming self-employed as a Marketing Consultant and Digital Strategist. While helping small businesses reach their marketing goals, Jennifer realized that many small business owners were creating businesses that were not in alignment with their priorities and values.

Jennifer quickly realized that, when her clients tried to build businesses that didn't resonate with their priorities and values, they either would fail or would be successful but miserable with what they had created. She understood that building a business is like building a house: It needs a solid foundation to build upon. This foundational realization was a big turning point. It's one of the things that compelled Jennifer to transition from consultant to coach and to create her 14-Step Formula for Getting Clients, Building Business, and Making More Income.

Jennifer's mix of real-life business experience, media experience, and practical application of marketing and digital strategies gives her a unique set of skills to help clients build their businesses much more quickly than they would on their own.
